

We need your help in policing and securing against terrorist attacks

If you see a suspicious-looking person, vehicle, or bag, please report it to the nearest police officer, airport or station staff, or security guard.

In July 2005, two simultaneous terrorist bomb attacks occurred in London, United Kingdom. In response to this, the police are augmenting security at public transportation facilities, including airports, train stations, and places in which people gather.

National Police Agency