

Traffic Lights and Road Signs

1 Types and Meaning of Traffic Lights

Types of Traffic Lights	Meaning of Traffic Lights
Green light 	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> (1) Pedestrians can proceed. (2) Vehicles excluding light road vehicles and streetcars can go straight or turn right or left. However, motorized bicycles that turn right via two-stage right turns can go straight until the point where they turn right and change their direction at the point. (3) Light road vehicles (including bicycles and carts) can go straight or turn left. When they turn right, they can go straight until the point where they turn right and change their direction at the point.
Yellow light 	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> (1) Pedestrians must not start crossing a road. When they are crossing the road, they must finish crossing the road promptly or stop crossing it and go back. (2) Vehicles and streetcars must not proceed beyond their stopping point. However, if they are approaching their stopping point when the traffic light has turned yellow and cannot stop safely, they can continue to proceed.
